

DEFEAT AND A SHUTOUT

Sudden Halt In Barre-Montpelier's Winning Streak

CALLED BY BURLINGTON

With Young Collins in the Box the Students Played Horse With the Locals, 5 to 0—Gardner Made Two Home Runs—Thayer in Box.

Manager Tom Hayes and his college boys came down from Burlington yesterday afternoon and put a period in Barre-Montpelier's winning streak. More than that, they unkindly vanished the defeat with a shutout, five to nothing. It was the ninth game for the league leaders and their first defeat. The chief and preponderant cause of the defeat was the masterly pitching of young Collins, one of the college pitching "fuds" of the year. The university of Vermont boy certainly had the wooden Indian sign on the locals for fair.

Only three of the Twins got anything like a safe rap off his pitching. Five hits go down in the tabulated score, but there really were only three clean singles. Fraser is credited with two hits, Thayer with two and Cotter with one. Collins had almost perfect control and struck out nine men. He was better with men on bases than when he had a clear field, and was as cool as a "cuke" all the time. He also made one grand two-handed stop of a ball from Harris' bat in the first inning and got his man at first. That the Boston and New York Americans know a good thing is apparent, but Collins wants to finish his college course before going into league company.

Manager Daley picked Thayer from his string of five to oppose Collins, and the local boy pitched a good game. But the visitors had an unfortunate habit of bunting their hits for good effect. And when they were not bunched they were home runs. "Larrupers" Gardner, for instance, made two home runs, thus duplicating his performance in the Inter-state league a short time ago. One was a clean effort over the right field fence, and the other was a ball which found a hole about half-way up the centerfield bulwark. Collins got a double and the other four hits by Burlington were singles. Thayer struck out eight men.

In the field Sanders did well for the locals, and Gardner and Collins for the visitors. Tom Hayes who plays first base was apparently still suffering from his sunstroke of Sunday. His mind was wandering in the third inning when he picked up Sanders' grounder, and instead of touching first base as he had ample time to do, returned the ball to the pitcher and then went and touched the base. It was one of the few moments of merit for the home rooters.

It looked as if Hayes' blunder might be productive of a run, as the next two batters, Murphy and Harris, sacrificed Sanders along neatly. Cotter was next up but the best he could do was to fly out to centerfield. The only other chance the crowd had to embrace over the Twins' chances was in the eighth when Murphy got first on his pop to Partridge, somebody shaking a rattle in "Pat's" face.

It would be better for the crowd to out the "watermelon" gag when Williams comes to the bat. There is no cleaner player in the league. The "ump" had some close decisions to make, and it, of course, made a difference what side you supported as to the correctness of the decision. The players kicked several times. To the writer it looked correct when he called Clemm out on first in the fourth inning when Hayes dropped the throw and picked it up again. The "ump" was wrong in calling a ball on Partridge in the seventh when the batter clearly swung at the ball.

Harris got in the way of the ball, and Goode's passed ball advanced them. There was only one down, but Collins was equal to the emergency and struck out Cotter and caused Hall to pop to Hayes. Outside of Gardner's home runs, the Students scored in two innings. Hayes, the first man up in the fourth, laced a horizontal into left and got first. After Collins had popped to Sanders, Grow duplicated Hayes' effort in centerfield. McConnell drew a pass, Goode slammed a single into center, and Hayes scored. Clemm fumbled the ball and Grow clipped just all the stations. James hit to Thayer and Goode was forced at second. With McConnell on third and Jones on first, Partridge struck out. Williams' single, Hayes' out and Collins' double scored their fifth run in the eighth. It will thus be noted that they made every hit count. The score:

NOTES OF THE GAME

Rutland here tomorrow.

The Students are comers in the Vermont league.

Gardner is the champion long distance hitter thus far.

Someone ought to have put Tom Hayes' head in ice or ice on his head.

The other Burlington men took Hayes' misplays good-naturedly enough.

Goode's pegging arm was good, and the locals ought to have taken warning earlier.

Carrievan is an umpire with a buzz-saw voice. It sounds as if it through a three-inch plank.

With two years more of college training, Collins ought to size up with the best of the big leaguers.

Wherry ought to be put on the coaching line all the time. He's a had one to get the pitcher "going", although not yesterday.

It would be better for the crowd to out the "watermelon" gag when Williams comes to the bat. There is no cleaner player in the league.

The "ump" had some close decisions to make, and it, of course, made a difference what side you supported as to the correctness of the decision. The players kicked several times. To the writer it looked correct when he called Clemm out on first in the fourth inning when Hayes dropped the throw and picked it up again. STATE AFTER PERJURERS

Crusade a Result of Haywood Proceedings

CASES ON BOTH SIDES

Will be Prosecuted Vigorously—Subsequent Defence to be Very Short—By Thursday, it is Expected, Arguments Will Begin.

Boise, Idaho, July 17.—The impeachment of all witnesses who testified that Harry Orchard was not present at the blowing up of the Sullivan mine at Bunker Hill, and a retrial of the Cripple Creek conditions occupied most of the forenoon yesterday in the trial of William D. Haywood, charged with the murder of former Governor Steiensenberg. Cyrus Atter, the former Florence and Cripple Creek railroad agent, arrested Monday night on a charge of perjury, made by the state, was yesterday confronted by Orchard upon preliminary examination. Orchard testified that he did not call on Detective Scott at the Cripple Creek station at the time that Atter swore he did. Atter was bound over. A. Taftman, formerly of the miners' association at Cripple Creek, testified that McCormick, who was killed at the Vindicator mine by a bomb exploded how Orchard got into the mine and why he made a mistake in the level. By Thursday, it is expected, the arguments will begin.

Toronto, July 17.—Herman Bartels, the millionaire brewer who escaped from custody on July 4 at Welland, while he was appearing in an appeal against an order for his extradition to Auburn, N. He had $1,000 in bills under his vest.

WATTERSON NAMES HIS MAN

Candidate Is Gov. Johnson of Minnesota

THE UNDEFEATED MAN

avored for the Democrats—All That is Needed is Bryan's Support—Only One on the List Who Has No Known Enemies.

New York, July 17.—A despatch to the World from Washington says: "Governor John A. Johnson of Minnesota is the candidate to whom I referred as the one capable of carrying the Democratic party to victory next year," said Henry Watterson according to Charles A. Edwards, secretary of the Democratic Congressional Committee, who has returned from Louisville. "I had a conference with 'Nase' Henry," Colonel Edwards said, "and he went over the ground at length. Colonel Watterson, you will remember, some time ago stated that at the proper time he would name a Democrat living north of Mason and Dixon's line and west of the Alleghany Mountains, who never has been beaten for public office, and who wears a moustache, and who, if nominated, could lead the Democratic party to victory. Immediately guesses were made as to the identity of Colonel Watterson's man. Somebody finally hit on Governor Johnson, but it was found that Johnson wears no moustache and so he was dropped from the guessing. It became known later that Governor Johnson wore a moustache up to the time he became governor, since which time he has gone clean shaven.

ATTEMPT FOILED TO BLOCK RECOUNT

Unless McClellan Should File a Further Appeal Hearst May See Counting Begin.

New York, July 17.—Efforts of city officials, acting for Mayor McClellan, to prevent a recount of the votes cast for mayor in the last city election, suffered a severe check today when the appellate division of the supreme court denied their application for a writ of prohibition.

Unless counsel for Mayor McClellan makes further appeal, this decision seems to leave the way clear to begin the recount for which W. B. Hearst contends.

WESTERN ROADS TO REDUCE INTERSTATE RATES FRIDAY.

Eastern Roads to Make Similar Changes Soon, It Is Said.

Chicago, July 17.—The long-talked-of reduction in interstate passenger rates of western railroads will actually be made next Friday. Generally speaking, all rates will be reduced to the difference between the present basing rate and the new basing rate in effect next Friday.

This reduction of western interstate fares is the natural result of the passage of laws by Arkansas, Missouri, Nebraska, Illinois, Iowa and Minnesota, and it is understood that the eastern roads propose to make similar changes. The rate clerks will meet here tomorrow and continue in session until they have "checked up" all the interstate fares on the basis of the maximum legal mileage of the various states.

NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY

MORGAN TO BE POSTMASTER OF N. Y.

His Appointment Recommended By The Head of The Department.

Washington, July 17.—Postmaster General Meyer yesterday forwarded to President Roosevelt his recommendation that Assistant Postmaster Morgan be promoted to the position of postmaster at New York city to succeed Mr. Wilcox, resigned.

The appointment of Mr. Morgan has been urged by former Postmaster Wilcox, but opposed by Herbert Partridge, president of the New York Republican county committee, who wanted an appointment that would strengthen his organization. The department has favored Mr. Morgan from the first, and there has been little doubt that he would win the promotion. It is expected that President Roosevelt will act promptly on the recommendation of Postmaster General Meyer.

Light Luncheons For Hot Days.

Summer-time is the season when light refreshments of some kind are needed almost every day for little lips and outings—to entertain casual guests, and for luncheon on days too warm for heavy foods.

There are many summer-time biscuits and wafers baked by the National Biscuit company and packed in packages that keep out all dampness and dust of travel and absolutely preserve the original oven freshness of the contents. Among the most popular of these dainties are Social Tea Biscuits. They are so appropriate for many different occasions that a few packages in the house prepares you to serve a light refreshment without a moment's notice.

Social Tea Biscuits are a real food so light and unusual that they tempt the appetite and make a welcome accompaniment to luncheon, dessert, or dinner—a social cup of tea or cooling beverage.

Always serve Social Tea biscuits from the original package, because then you are sure that no dust or dampness has reached them and that you will enjoy all their original freshness of flavor.
